

The Global Campaign for Education has used some data from the GSW initiative as a resource for its recent report

A Taxing Business: Financing Education For All Through Domestic Resources

. It identifies four major steps towards achieving increased domestic resources, primarily through improved taxation and revenue-generation from natural resources, and highlights the vast impact this could make on ensuring quality, public education for all.