

Tax Inspectors Without Borders, a joint OCDE/UNDP initiative, held a webinar in May 2016. Launched in July 2015 in Addis Ababa, the project aims at transferring tax audit knowledge and skills to tax administrations in developing countries, working on real cases. In keeping with a practical learning approach, experts work with local officials from tax administrations on current audits and on issues concerning international tax audits.

In addition to more consistent and better quality audits, this technical assistance programme is designed to disseminate best practices in areas of tax audits but also aims at stimulating revenues and sensitising taxpayers to tax issues.

This presentation (in French) provides a brief history of the project, details its structure and how it operates. It also offers a brief overview of practical experiences from Colombia, Kenya and Senegal.
