Advocacy Services

DFI has taken a leading role in helping developing and developed country governments, international organisations and CSOs to advocate for more and deeper debt relief, and more and better quality aid, in order to enable developing countries to reduce poverty, develop their national economies and achieve the MDGs. The advocacy support involves drafting briefings and background papers for policymakers to debate, facilitating and chairing debates to ensure they produce concrete focussed policy recommendations, organising press conferences and media interviews and writing press briefings and releases, setting up lobbying meetings with key policymakers in G8 and other donor countries and international organisations, and liaising with other stakeholder groups to build effective coalitions for international change.

In particular, DFI has provided the secretariat for a highly effective low-income country voice on debt issues, the HIPC Finance Ministers Network. It has also recently been providing support to developing country representatives at the G20 meetings, the BWI Spring and Annual Meetings, the Accra High-Level Forum on Aid Effectiveness, and Ministerial meetings sponsored by the Commonwealth Secretariat and the Organisation International de la Francophonie (OIF). This support has had a major impact on the content of HIPC and MDRI debt relief initiatives, the Accra Agenda for Action on Aid Effectiveness, and recent G20 communiques.

Latest work DFI carried out in this area:

Q4 2012 - New Rules for Global Finance FSB-Watch Coalition and Global Financial Governance Report

New Rules for Global Finance has established a coalition with issue-specific campaigns on bank legislation, commodity/food speculation and hedge funds, tax havens and shadow banking, and sovereign debt, to monitor more closely the work of the FSB and G20 on regulating global private financial flows. To support the coalition, it has expanded and updated the www.fsbwatch.org website as well as the www.new-rules.org website, and appointed “translators” to provide concise user-friendly summaries of FSB and other documents for advocacy purposes. DFI will help New Rules to facilitate meetings in April in Washington to plan a Global Financial Governance report, assessing the governance, accountability, transparency and impact on inclusive and sustainable development of the G20, IMF, World Bank and FSB; as well as a meeting in Basel in June to plan more specific activities on the FSB and G20.
Advocacy Services

14-15 November 2012 - ODI CAPE Conference: Development Cooperation in Tomorrow’s World

DFI chaired a session of this conference focussing on the role of South-South cooperation. Featuring panellists from Brazil, China, Mexico and South Africa, the session discussed the comparative advantages of South-South cooperation and what more can be done to enhance evaluation of results. The conference also had sessions on climate finance, philanthropy and social impact investment, recipient country perspectives on different actors, and how these fit with the current focus on maximising results from development cooperation.

25-26 June 2012, Accra - Why Debt Management Capacity Building Is Still Vital
DRI spoke on this topic at the World Bank Debt Management Facility Stakeholders Forum organised in Accra. The presentation focussed on lessons for best practice in building capacity, and especially emphasised the need for “downstream” (country-level) financing to be provided to other organisations to complement the “upstream” role of the World Bank in the DMF. To download a copy of the presentation click here. To see the wider programme and summary of proceedings of the forum click here.

14-15 May – Development Cooperation for Sustainable Development

DFI supplied a resource person for the UN Development Cooperation Forum symposium in Brisbane. Participants discussed the need for the post-2015 Development Agenda to be based on economically, socially and environmentally sustainable development, and what this would mean for delivery of aid, financing and partnership mechanisms, mutual accountability and the international architecture.

20 April 2012 - DFI supports Commonwealth-OIF Outreach with G20 on Food Security paper on food security that examines and promotes efforts. Further support to OIF is planned in Q3 around the BWI, which presents the perspectives of their smallest.

For the conference programme and other papers (mainly on the role of aid in demanding improvements of the DFI was funded by the Heinrich Boell Foundation to attend this meeting of more than 100 global development CSOs, planning their engagement with the G8 and G20 for 2011, in order to analyse implications for cooperation between CSOs and low-income countries. For regular updates by the Foundation on the G20, click here.

DFI continued its support for this ministerial forum, which met at the BWI Spring Meetings on 15 April. A highly successful press conference after the meeting resulted in extensive press communiqué can be found Annual Meetings.

Participants agreed next steps in the construction of a global CSO network to monitor and lobby the FSB, which New Rules will support.

At the height of the international financial crisis and following the G-20 London Summit in 2009, Research Consortium to establish the importance, there is extremely limited knowledge as to how it operates or is governed. DFI has towards an effective, inclusive, transparent and accountable global regulation of the financial system.

Implementation of regulatory, supervisory and other financial sector policies. Despite its the Financial Stability Board (FSB) was established to formulate and oversee the New Rules for Global Finance-AERC-Brookings project on the FSB, DFI helped to facilitate a packed CSO workshop on how the FSB impacts on global workshop.

An independent high-level panel composed of experts from developed and developing countries, and hosted at the Brookings Institution, launched a project on FSB funded by the Ford and Connect US Foundations. At the meeting to launch the countries. The panel was supported financially by the joint AERC-Brookings-DFI-New Rules in the governance of the Financial Stability Board. These included clarification of its legal status; greater transparency, accountability and disclosure; and stronger representation of developing countries, which will operate in coalition with networks already working on key issues (governance, transparency, commodity speculation, tax havens, bank regulation, debt workouts). The workshop was part of the joint AERC-Brookings-DFI-New Rules project on FSB funded by the Ford, C.S. Mott and Connect US Foundations.

Various participants including DFI agreed to mobilise key stakeholder groups (governments, UN agencies, trade unions, CSOs, expert researchers) to support the network, monitor and analyse the Financial Stability Board (FSB Watch Network) to complement the FSB workshop.

DFI participated at the Development Cooperation Forum meeting in Luxembourg, speaking on Cambodia and Cameroon. At a press conference, they demanded fair representation in the G-20 Finance Ministers’ outreach meeting. Against Poverty, these discussions resulted in a rapid reconfirmation of Africa’s seats at the G-20 table. For a copy of the communiqué, click here.

Against Poverty, these discussions resulted in a rapid reconfirmation of Africa’s seats at the G-20 table. For a copy of the communiqué, click here.

Catalytic Role of Aid without which developing countries cannot hold donors accountable. DFI’s presentation is available here.

They called for a cohesive set of measures to increase food production and access, including long-term sustainable use of natural resources.