

A comprehensive debt strategy includes an analysis of both external and domestic debt so as to assess the implications of total debt servicing costs and new financing on the Government budget.

Main tasks of national domestic debt strategy managers

- To review recent trends of domestic debt restructuring, new issuance and servicing costs for domestic budget financing and monetary policy and financial sector development purposes
- To evaluate realistic options for domestic debt restructuring and future issuances and portfolio structures
- To design alternative domestic debt restructuring and new issuance scenarios for budget financing and monetary policy implementation and financial sector development
- To analyse the simulation results for future debt and new financing strategy purposes

The training materials for conducting a national debt and aid strategy workshop are comprised of the following for each of the technical areas:

- training manual tasks, explaining how to do conduct the relevant tasks and analyses
- training manual tables, to assist with the analysis and recording of outcomes in Excel spreadsheets
- reference materials, providing more in-depth explanatory and background information, including on international best practices

The CBP workshop manual also contains the preliminary documents setting out the workshop prerequisites and sample timetable and plenary, scenario and results tasks which related to the plenary sessions for all technical groups. In addition, the CBP provides a Training for Trainers
