

There are no translations available.

Despite stable overall public spending figures, DRC's expenditure in some key social sectors as percentage of total expenditure has declined from 2014 to 2015, notably in health and agriculture. GSW's latest country spending summary highlights DRC's shift of budgetary priorities in an election year where government spending seems to be reoriented towards public order and security, and infrastructure projects.